Evidence Was Weak. Thomas Casey, who was indicted for murder in the first degree for killing Jack Dresser in a saloon at Eighteenth and Walnut streets, last November, was allowed to plead guilty yesterday in the criminal court to manslaughter insthe fourth degree, and was given two years in the penitentiary. Prosecutor Lowe said yesterday that a number of attorneys had blaimed Casey for pleading guilty, claiming that the case would not warrant a verdict, and that it was a case of manslaughter at the worst, there being no evidence of intent, much less premeditation.

S. F. Streichoff, who was indicted on several counts for forgery, was allowed to plead guilty to one charge and was given sixty days in jail. ## ABOUT THE DARRAGH CASE.

Prosecutor Lowe Gives His Rensons for Continuing It Until November at Independence.

nitor Lowe has received a grea many letters recently asking why the trial of J. C. Darragh, president of the defunct Kansas City Safe Deposit and Savings bank, will not take place in June.

"I have been criticized," said Mr. Lowe, "because the prosecutor has not tried this case before. The public should remember that I have been in office only five months. I am not responsible for the failure of my predecessors to try the case. The case itself comes up in independence, and not in Kansas City. There has not been a term of the criminal court in Independence since I have been in office. I have asked but one continuance, and that for the reason that it is a very complicated case. My first assistant, J. H. Worthen, has been sick for several weeks, but he has worked on the case even though sick. It is a Kansas City Safe Deposit and Savings on the case even though sick. The marriage of Miss Anna Simpson Householder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Householder, and Mr. Walter Eugene Parker was celebrated with impressive ceremony at the First English Lutheran church last evening at 7 o'clock. The altar of the pretty church was banked with stately palms, the sole touch of color being given by a large bowl of pink peonies which stood upon the communion table. The wedding procession, composed simply being given by a large bowl of pink peonles which stood upon the communion table. The wedding procession, composed simply of the ushers, Mr. Porter B. Goddard, Mr. Fred C. Turner, Mr. J. H. Graham and Mr. John H. Powell, the maid of honor, Miss Agnes Doyle, and the dainty bride upon the arm of her father, advanced down the right aisle to the music of the march from "Lohengrin." whose sweet strains continued softly through the ceremony.

The bride was handsomely gowned in a heavy white corded silk, with a slight train. The bodice was velled with chiffon and fastened down the left side. Bands of pearl and silver passementeric formed a square yoke on the front of the bodice, which was finished with soft ruffles and a shoulder knot of white ribbon. Her vell was confined to her dark hair by a dlamond sunburst, the gift of the groom, and she carried, bride roses, Miss Agnes Doyle wore a lovely frock of white organdy over pink silk. The skirt was trimmed with clusters of narrow ruffles at the foot and at intervals to the walst. The bodice was cut square at the neck and outlined with white ribbons, and was covered with many fluffy ruffles, as were the short sleeves. Her bouquet was of pink roses.

Pink was the predominating color of the decorations at the reception held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, to which only the bridal party and relatives were bidden. Pink peonles and roses with relief of delicate green decked the house and pink candles were largely used in lighting the rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Parker are taking a brief wedding journey and will be at home for the summer at The Fairmount.
